There were 29 deaths in Burlington during the month of August and nearly all of them were infants or aged persons. Three people died at the age of 22 and 12 were 70 or over. No deaths from contagious diseases were reported. One death was from accidental causes and one other was suicide. Cholera infantum was the greatest contributor to death.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. King left Tuesday morning on a month's western trip. They will go first to Winnipeg, Man., where Mr. King will attend an Odd Fellows' convention as the representative from the Grand Encampment of Odd Fellows of Vermont. Afterwards they will stop in several cities in the middle West and on their way home will visit Mr. King's brother in Louisiana, La.

Two drunks, both of whom had been there before, were arraigned in city court Saturday morning and found guilty. They were Patrick Sheridan of Rutland, who was arrested a few weeks ago for the same offense, and Curtis Edgerton of Charlotte. The former was fined $15 and costs but took the alternative sentence in jail, and Edgerton was fined the same amount but took an appeal, furnishing bail.

The returns to the city clerk's office show that there were 40 births during the month of August. The girls were in the ascendancy, numbering 22 to 18 boys. The oldest mother was 46 years of age and the youngest was 18. The youngest mother was 18, and there were seven of these. One mother, aged 21, was the mother of her fifth child. All but a few of the children were born to parents under 20 years of age.

A luncheon will be served at 12:30, followed by after-dinner speeches. Two of the speakers at the meeting will be Miss Alice Browne of China and Miss Kate G. Lamson of the Woman's board, who has just returned from a trip around the world.

Nearly 50 chauffeurs and repair men held a banquet at the Van Ness house roof garden Friday night and listened to a speech by Congressman Frank E. Greene and others. Different topics of interest to automobile men were discussed and the affair proved to be a pleasant one. Col. E. P. Woodbury was toastmaster and in addition to Colonel Greene, Messrs. Parker, Kama, Glimmo, Sherwin and Brush made brief remarks. Lessors' orchestra furnished the music.

A hearing in the divorce proceedings of Mattie Morrow vs. Nelson Morrow was held before Judge Taylor Tuesday afternoon at the county court house in regard to temporary alimony and suit money. Judge Taylor directed the petitioner to pay to the petitioner three dollars a week alimony and supply clothing for minor children, and that within three weeks from that time he must pay twenty-five dollars suit money. The petition was represented by J. J. Enright, and the petitioner by A. L. Sherman.

Five divorce cases and one appeal from the probate of a will have been added to the county court docket. The divorce cases are Josephine Gaudin vs. George Gaudin of Colchester; Edith L. Shepard vs. Clayton E. Shepard of Burlington; Jennie Carey vs. Charles S. Carey of Colchester; Jennie T. Barney vs. Henry Barney of Burlington; and Daisy M. Phelps vs. Roy O. Phelps of Colchester. In all these petitions intolerable severity and neglect and refusal to support are alleged. The probate case is that of F. H. Higley and others vs. estate of Caroline Sherman of Richmond.

Dr. J. Williston Wright, whose name has appeared in the University of Vermont catalogue for many years as professor emeritus of surgery, died September 2 at a hospital in Albany, N. Y., where he was taken a few weeks ago for treatment. For many years Dr. Wright was an eminent New York surgeon, being prominently identified with Bellevue hospital and other institutions. The strenuous work attending his widespread professional fame brought on a physical breakdown and several years ago he removed to Lake Placid, N. Y., where he had since resided.

There were no developments of importance yesterday in the case of Margaret Carter, who is in jail charged with the shooting of Pearl Hooper. The woman appears to be in a highly nervous condition and yesterday ate little or nothing all day. She has engaged as counsel J. J. Enright and F. G. Webster, and they have thus far been the only persons to visit her. It is not yet known when the case will come up for trial, but it may be ready for the latter part of this term of court. Supt. Attorney H. B. Shaw is at work on the case and yesterday an inquest was held before Judge Conlin in Winooski.

Charles H. Scully has tendered his resignation to the Artek company, to take effect September 15. Mr. Scully has been with the company 23 years, first learning the inside work and then taking a position as traveling salesman, staying on the road until about four years ago when he was elected manager and secretary. Much credit is his due for the present flourishing condition of the concern. Mr. Scully with his family will remove to Los Angeles, Calif. early in October to take charge of a force of specialty salesmen for a large New York city concern that have decided to place their line of chocolates through California and Colorado.

The large number of divorce petitions before the present term of county court was increased Tuesday by three. The libel of Lena Denton versus H. H. Denton, both of this city, on grounds of intolerable severity, was entered. From Bolton came the petition of Jennie M. Senor versus E. Senor, on like grounds, and demanding custody of a minor child, with alimony. Mattie E. Morrow of Williston prays for divorce asking custody of four children and perjury from Nelson Morrow, alleging severity, mission to resume her maiden name of Sennay. The suit of Anna Champney versus Frank E. Young, both of Essex, was also entered.

The Rt. Rev. Arthur C. A. Hall reached Burlington Sunday evening at 10:10 o'clock from Montreal, where he arrived that morning on the steamship Laurentic. Bishop Hall has been abroad since June, when he went to England to attend a meeting of the committee on the proposed world conference on faith and order at Lambeth Palace, held with the Archbishop of Canterbury and other church leaders. The meeting was for the purpose of an informal discussion of the proposed world conference which is to be held in this country at some future date. Bishop Hall is to preside at the diocesan convention at Bennington on September 25.

Nieces of the late Homer Kimball are considering contesting his will, which gives $20,000 to Mrs. W. J. Idleman and the remainder of the estate to Daniel A. and C. L. Kimball, his cousins. The will has been allowed by Probate Judge Macomber after a hearing in the case, but an appeal to county court is expected to follow, and it is inferred from the cross-examinations already made that the chief ground of objection will be the mental incapacity of the testator, at the time the will was made. At the time of his death Mr. Kimball was under guardianship of Thomas Reeves, but in the preamble of the will it is stated that, although of infirm health, the testator was of sound mind. In the estate of Carol Sherman of Richmond, appeal has been taken from the allowance of the will, mental incapacity, undue influence, and improper execution of the will being alleged, and John T. Rutter has been appointed special administrator. Not for about 10 years has a will been contested in Chittenden county, but if the Kimball will is contested it will be the fourth case of the kind within a few months.

The will of the late Michael F. Kelley of Colchester was proved in probate court yesterday and developments at the hearing indicate that it will be the fifth testament to be contested within a few weeks. The examination, conducted by V. A. Hall, was aimed apparently at the disclosure of faults in execution, unsoundness of mind in the testator and the exercise of undue influence over him. Mr. Bullard appeared in behalf of Michael Kelley Gleason, a nephew of the deceased, residing in Pennsylvania. A niece, Anna R. Kelley, is named as the residuary legatee and there are other bequests of small amounts. Another nephew, John R. Kelley, is named as executor. The will was drawn February 5, 1909, by Elmer R. Taft, and witnessed by Francis A. Dowse, Elizabeth Coffey and Elmer R. Taft. The testator was well known in this vicinity, having formerly owned the farm property on which St. Michael's College, Winooski Park, was later built, and having donated a portion of the property for that purpose. It is understood that other business in probate court yesterday included a settlement and decree in the estate of Fannie Myers, late of Colchester.

The duties collected in the customs district of Vermont during August, as made public yesterday afternoon by Collector C. H. Darling, show a decrease of interest in the month of August, 1911, in that month they were $93,317.50 as compared with $82,181.61 last month. By a seeming inconsistency the value of imports for the same month show an increase, being $75,047 as compared with $65,776 in 1911, and the same is true of the value of exports, which was $67,690 last month and $55,214 a year ago. The reason for the falling off in duties, with an increased amount of business done, is that the importation of duties on the list of last year was $1,000,000 less than the increase as a large quantity of pulp wood, which is free, was taken in, and in the two preceding years about all the hay which could be transported in available cars was imported with a duty of 24 per cent. It does not now look as though the duties collected would keep up with the past two years, as the crops in this country this year are far in excess of the other years and no such amount of hay and grain will be imported for consumption here.

James Reynolds, who has been acting queerly for the past two or three days, was placed in jail yesterday morning by the police for safe keeping after he had seen imaginary men trying to light the lights on the fountain in City Hall Park and had been followed by imaginary men who were demanding money of him. Reynolds appeared at the police station about 2:30 in the morning and claimed that two men were watching at the doorway of his home and were demanding that he give them money with which to buy liquor. He had eluded them by jumping from a second story window. The story was incoherent and it was evident that the man was suffering from delusions of some sort. He was next seen searching for matches in the park and said that he was going to give them to a man working on the fountain. There was no such person there and Police Officers Brodie and Fraser yelled at him barely in time to save him from walking into the water. When they reached him they found that he was armed with a heavy hammer, with which he intended to promote himself in case some persecutors got after him. It was then deemed best to place him in jail. He appeared calm yesterday and had apparently recovered from his temporary derangement. He will probably be examined by physicians soon to determine whether or not he is sane.

WEIGHTS AND STANDARDS

One Is Often Short and the Other Mixed.

Legislature Will Be Asked to Remedy Some Alleged Evils Whereby the Consumer Buys Much That He Does Not Want.

The Vermont Association of Sealers held the second of a series of open meetings for the education of the public in matters pertaining to weights and measures yesterday in the roof garden of the Hotel Vermont, but only a few in addition to the sealers and men engaged in business along the lines having to do with the subject took occasion to attend. The meeting was, however, productive of considerable good as different phases of the subject were presented and several matters were discussed which will be brought before the next Legislature. A number of speakers from outside the State made addresses. Commissioner Hugh H. Henry of Chester presided and the principal speakers were G. A. Howe, deputy sealer of weights and measures in the District of Columbia; L. A. Fischer, chief of the division of weights and measures of the National Bureau of Standards; D. C. Palmer, commissioner of weights and measures in Massachusetts; and George K. Cary of St. Johnsbury, who spoke of some of the present faults which existed to the detriment of the maple sugar shippers and packers. In addition to these, brief speeches were made by D. J. Moynahan of Boston, of the Moneyweight Computing Scale company; H. L. Hanson of Boston, district sales manager of the Angell Computing Scale company; and Messrs. Seowan and Knight of Detroit, of the Toledo Computing Scale company.

Some of the matters which will be brought before the Legislature will be the establishment of regular salaries for the inspectors, instead of the present method of paying so much per day for time spent; the passage of a law which will prohibit the use of any untested weight or measure, and a provision for the sale of land in bulk or in parcels holding an even number of pounds, probably three, five and ten, as is now the law in most States. Mr. Fischer urged the importance of national legislation which would promote uniformity in the matter of standards throughout the country, as at the present time the scale manufacturers and others were confused and put to a considerable expense by the present chaotic condition of standards. He also took the way in which the law provided for all interstate shipments must contain the weight or measure which was marked on the container was being made useless by the fact that the manufacturers had ceased to mark the containers. He would favor a law which would compel them to mark such containers and each State should also have such a law.

Mr. Palmer told of the manner in which purchases were made to date for heavy paper. In one store the manager had purchased a heavy Manila paper which was used abundantly and it was found that the purchasers who bought the paper instead of the commodity which they asked for were paying the rent of the store, and that the cost of the paper was even then deducted so that the difference in the cost of the paper and the price of the commodity was equal to more than a hundred dollars per month. The harm resulting from tolerance for inaccuracy of two ounces per quart had formerly been allowed and that it was found the manufacturers, as soon as the law was passed, cut down the measures just that much. At present the only tolerance allowed was one ounce per gallon.

The manner in which purchasers pay for tin instead of tin was brought out when it was shown that they bought from eight to 13 ounces of tin with every pound and were paying for land. A change will be given the Vermont Legislature to remedy this, but strong opposition is expected. A standard barrel will also be urged at the next Legislature for at present there is no standard in Vermont and it particularly affects the apple business, as some are using four barrels while others use sugar barrels and others. In closing, a resolution expressing regret at the death of Inspector A. S. Flury of Swanton was adopted.

HOME WEDDING.

R. L. Sanford and Miss Allene Leffingwell Married Last Evening.

The wedding of Miss Allene Caswell Leffingwell, oldest daughter of Mrs. F. C. Leffingwell, and Raymond L. Sanford, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sanford of Oak Bluffs, Mass., was solemnized last evening at eight o'clock at the home of the bride at 72 Buell street, in the presence of immediate relatives and intimate friends. The ceremony was performed in the living room, the bay window of which was banked with ferns, asters and hydrangeas, which were also used throughout the room. The Rev. C. C. Adams, pastor of the Congregational Church of Essex Junction, performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Irma Leffingwell, as maid of honor and the groom had as his best man Thurman W. Dix of Harkler, N. V., his classmate at the University of Vermont in 1903. Ten ribbon girls formed an aisle through which the bride party passed. The double ring service was used.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe meteor, trimmed with old Irish cluny lace. Her veil of tulle was caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas. The maid of honor wore pink crepe de chine and carried pink gladioli. The ribbon girls wore yellow, blue and white. Raymond B. Leffingwell of Boston and Robert D. Thompson acted as ushers.

Miss Nash and Mr. Barton played the wedding marches. Just preceding the appearance of the bride party Miss Frances Tenney of St. Albans sang "Oh, Promise Me" by Reginald Leaven. Following the ceremony refreshments were served, the dining room being decorated with mountain ash and flowers. Those who served were the Misses Jane Williams, Kate Beebe and Margery Adelt.

Those from out of town to attend the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. E.

Mrs. Sanford is a graduate of the Burlington high school and of the Leland Powers school of expression of Boston, and for the past two years has been teaching and reading in this city and vicinity. Mr. Sanford is a graduate of the University of Vermont in the class of 1908 and is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

REPRESENTATIVE HONORED

E. H. Converse of Charlotte Given a Reception by His Townsmen.

Nearly 20 townspeople of Charlotte and neighboring towns gathered at Elmhurst, the home of E. Hudson Converse, on Tuesday evening, the 10th inst., to partake of his hospitality and offer their congratulations on his recent election as representative in the coming Legislature. Many were detained from being present by the inclement weather. The Hinesburg band was in attendance, adding much to the pleasure of the occasion by their musical selections, happily rendered. The grounds were brilliantly lighted by torches and colored lanterns, making a very attractive appearance. Mr. Converse being called on for a speech, responded briefly and invited all to partake of a collation provided in the spacious dining room. After the refreshments Mr. Converse escorted the Hon. J. H. Thompson to the band stand, introducing him as a substitute as a speaker. Mr. Thompson spoke in his usual happy manner, eliciting applause from his appreciative audience. In the course of his remarks he said that if Mr. Converse were as diligent in his work at the capital as in securing votes for his election he would make good. He then spoke of the election of Mr. Converse, which he said was a great honor to the town, and he wished to express his thanks for the pleasure of an evening long to be remembered.

Mr. Converse was born in Ferrisburg and since his youth has always been a resident of Charlotte, with the exception of one year spent in the Central West. He was educated in the common schools of Charlotte and high schools of Oakbluffs, Wis. He fitted for college under the late Professor Clibbey of Williston, but was called from school to the active duties of a farmer's life, which avocation he has followed ever since. Mr. Converse has added to his fund of information acquired in the schools by extensive travel in the South and West as well as in foreign countries, having passed a winter in the Orient. In Egypt he visited many places of interest. He has also traveled extensively through several of the countries of continental Europe and the British Isles, spending some time in the capitals of the different countries visited.

Mrs. Oscar Brown of Rutland will celebrate her 80th birthday today. She is probably the city's oldest resident and has lived in Rutland since early childhood.

Matt Haley of Barre is to supervise the placing of six large granite statues at the new union station at Washington, D. C. The statues tip the scales at 40 to 50 tons each. When taken from the quarries they weighed 90 tons each.

OBITUARY

Mon. Calvin S. Isham.

Calvin S. Isham, son of the late Edward and Dorlicka Lockwood Isham, died at his home Saturday after a lingering and painful illness. The funeral was held at his late home, at the corner of South Willard and Buell streets, Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock.

Mr. Isham was born in the town of St. George. In the early history of the Vermont Industrial school at Vergennes Mr. Isham, then a young man, was one of its efficient officers. He rendered commendable service, which was much appreciated by the State and those associated with him. From Vergennes he came to Burlington and formed a partnership with J. W. Jones in the feed, grain, seed and implement business, which continued until the time of his death. This firm, formed 28 years ago, was the oldest existing firm on Church street. Mr. Isham, while never seeking office, yet because of the confidence of his fellow citizens in his business ability and strict integrity, was often elected or chosen to responsible positions in public service. He was four times elected member of the board of aldermen, serving from 1895-1898, and in 1904 was elected a senator from Chittenden county. In the Senate he proved his worth by the strong and judicious service he gave to all important measures brought before the Legislature.

His last public service was as chairman of the committee of business men selected to secure better railroad facilities and especially a new union station for the city of his adoption. In the tenetarian celebration in 1909 he was on the executive committee and did efficient work.

Mr. Isham succeeded the late Smith Wright as president of the Home Savings bank in 1909 and was president at the time of his death. He was zealous of the prosperity of the institution, painstaking and careful in its judicious management.

Mr. Isham had many friends who were wont to call upon him at his place of business for discussion and to get his opinion and advice upon the commercial and political questions of the day. He was a genial companion, a lover of the quiet home life, unostentatious in his living, and an incessant worker. His memory will be long cherished by his many friends.

Mr. Isham's immediate surviving relatives are his wife, a sister, Miss Eliza Isham of Barre, a daughter, Mrs. J. Warren Richards and a granddaughter, Ruth, of Seattle, Wash.

MERRIMAC AND "VIRGINIA." In a recent issue of the "Confederate Veteran," Governor Wilson appears as the writer of a letter. He has said or written something which displeased somebody, and Colonel William H. Stewart has pointed out an error in his reference to "the fight between the Virginia and the Monitor." Later he again pleads that he meant no credit "to the officers who were in command of the gallant Virginia."

Fifty years after the fight between the Monitor and the Merrimac Governor Wilson sees fit to inflict this on the public. The Merrimac belonged to the United States government. She was stolen by persons who desired to break up the Union, they called her the Virginia, she was armed and she sunk the unarmed Cumberland. All this can be found in
